BAAL Corpus Linguistics SIG Symposium
Corpus Perspectives on Crisis Discourse

Free Online Event
Manchester Metropolitan University
Manchester Centre for Research in Linguistics
January 17th 2024 on Zoom

Register here or with the link below

9:00 - 9:10	Symposium Opening

9:10 - 9:50   Niall Curry, Manchester Metropolitan University
'Who gets to decide about the future of life on Earth?': A contrastive analysis of questions in climate science

9:50 - 10:30   Elena Semino & the Quo VaDis team, Lancaster University
Vaccine comparisons on Twitter during the pandemic

10:30 - 11:10   Tamsin Parnell, University of Nottingham
'Homeless' in the cost-of-living crisis: A corpus-assisted analysis of British national press coverage

11:10 - 11:40   Break

11:40 - 12:20   Encarnación Hidalgo Tenorio, University of Granada
Political crises are fun to watch from outside: A corpus-assisted discourse analysis approach to extremism in the wake of 2024

12:20 - 13:00   Dario Del Fante, University of Ferrara
Migration discourse: Identities in crisis

13:00 - 13:40   Luke Collins, Lancaster University
Lexical innovation in response to COVID-19

13:40 - 14:00   Break

14:00 - 14:40   Matteo Fuoli, University of Birmingham
Corporate net zero pledges: Genuine change or 'climate-washing'?

14:40 - 15:20   Charlotte-Rose Kennedy, Birmingham City University & David Wright, Nottingham Trent University
Discourses of force and failure: The construction of crisis in policing of climate change

15:20 - 16:00   Michaela Mahlberg, University of Birmingham
Water Stories – rethinking applied linguistics

16:00 -16:40   Dawn Archer, Manchester Metropolitan University
Finding patterns in UK police crisis negotiation data, with a view to improving training

16:40   Symposium Closing

To register, please go to the following link: https://forms.office.com/e/v9aEAZQfW6
For any queries, please contact Niall Curry: n.curry@mmu.ac.uk

BAAL   Manchester Metropolitan University